Announcements

1. The university has a new policy about course releases earned through administrative work: from now on, they can't be banked, but have to be used the year they are earned. REQUIRED ACTION: Tell Isamara when you plan to spend currently banked admin course releases. Tell her by February 27th. She has to submit a report.

1. Please give an updated cv to John, for purposes of the department self-study. (It's a good time to update your page on the website too, since Gabe will be making offers of admission this week.

2. Paul Taylor and his family have scheduled a visit to campus in the tenth week of Winter term. This is to get acquainted with us and UCLA, to see what it's like and what is possible here.
