We discussed the candidates on the final longlist that was given to us by the Search Committee. For each candidate, those who had read something gave a primarily descriptive account of what the work was about and like, and made suggestions to the rest of us about what best to read in each case. We will do much more reading by the next meeting.

We decided to change our meeting schedule, to allow another full meeting for discussion of job candidates before voting on a short list.

January 21st, 1-2, discussion of longlist candidates
2-4, discussion of Adam Crager's teaching, service, and beginning on research

January 28th, ?-4, discussion and vote for shortlist, vote outside of and starting ahead of meeting, editable up to a time in the meeting. Vote on how long the shortlist should be will be taken in the meeting after discussion and report of the ranking that we voted.
